QUICKSTART GUIDE
TO OWNING & PUBLISHING YOUR DIGITAL IMAGES

Step 1: Take Back Your Digital Content

Stop Serving CORPORATE SOCIAL MEDIA YOUR data and creative intelligence, OWN IT!
You can join our free support group on Clubhouse in TechHeroes Club or contact me via my website home page to calendar a virtual meeting. Now, let's look at how we can recover our content from the clutches of the digital media sucking machine. Facebook/Meta WHATEVER, you love my DATA and I want it BACK! Ok, let's start . . .

1. Login to your account 2. go to Settings 3. YOUR Facebook Information

The screenshot shows the Facebook 'Download Your Information' interface. At the top, there's a search bar and navigation icons. The main heading is 'Download Your Information'. Below it, a paragraph explains that users can download a copy of their Facebook information at any time, choosing between a complete copy or specific types and date ranges. It also notes that the download is a password-protected process. Below this, there are two tabs: 'Request Copy' and 'Available Copies'. Under 'Available Copies', a blue box states 'A copy of your information is being created.' Below that, two rows of information are shown: one for 'Jan 1, 2004 - Nov 12, 2021' (Volunteering, Other Personal Information, Friends and Followers and more) which is 'Pending', and another for 'Jan 5, 2008 - Dec 20, 2020' (Profile information, Posts, Likes and reactions and more) which is 'Expired Dec 24, 2020'.

Step 2: Watermark Your Images

Now you have some digital content to work with and most likely you are shocked at the amount of data and digital assets are actually living in other platforms that are often not easily accessible. Most importantly you now have your content to Watermark and Publish to Your OWN website. Here are the steps to using Visual Watermark a program for MacOS that is downloadable from their website:

Step 3: Publish Your Images

Publishing YOUR Images to YOUR Web Presence is an amazing feat and an amazing legacy to share with others and to own the images and your gold. . . . I created the Picture This . . . site page prototype off of my main site www.jennydonegan.com so my publishing is from a domain that I am renting ;-) Having a web domain url and hosting is the closest you will get to ownership of digital real estate in which you can publish and conduct business for a very low cost. The power is in Publishing and Owning Your Content you can then become more of a wise sage to offer your wisdom through blogging and creating community through publishing and sharing.
